

Native Plant Nurseries and Seed Sources

CVC encourages landowners and residents to plant native trees, shrubs, wildflowers and grasses. Native plants are beautiful and can be used in all landscapes and gardens, from restoring a forest, to creating a prairie or meadow, to planting flower beds, or selecting a tree for your front yard. Native plants are adapted to local conditions and are an integral part of a healthy, natural environment. Use this list to find a native plant nursery near you!

NOTES

*= Specializes in native stock. The remaining nurseries have a portion of their stock that is native and a portion that is non-native.

Ask for the geographic source of stock and choose local when available. Locally derived seed or stock is preferable, as plants will already be adapted to the conditions (soils, temperatures, insects and diseases) within this zone and are more likely to survive. In addition, plants are less likely to bring in disease or genetic adaptations from other zones. Visit www.treesontario.ca/files/learn/tree-seed-zone-map.pdf to locate your seed zone.

Although native plants are preferable, if you select some non-natives, avoid invasive species and cultivars of native varieties. A list of invasive plants of concern in the Credit Valley Watershed is forthcoming. Contact Credit Valley Conservation for a copy: www.creditvalleyca.ca

Some nurseries are only open seasonally or require appointments. Where known, this was noted. Call nurseries to confirm hours before visiting.

For other ecological services such as environmental assessments, landscape architecture and design or landscape maintenance, please refer to Credit Valley Conservation's Ecological Service Providers list.

If there are any errors or omissions on this list please contact greencities@creditvalleyca.ca and we would be happy to address this.
